

Scotiabank Giller Prize Winner

“Toronto-based writer Souvankham Thammavongsa ... received the $100,000 honour Monday night for her fiction debut, How to Pronounce Knife. In their citation, jurors hailed the book as “a stunning collection of stories that portray the immigrant experience in achingly beautiful prose.” Born in the Lao refugee camp in Nong Khai, Thailand, and raised in Toronto, Thammavongsa traces the stories of immigrants building new lives far from home, straining against the mores of both societies as they search for a sense of belonging.”

Click here to read full article Click here to purchase the book

Webinar: Accompanying forcibly displaced people in Colombia

JUANA POTES, Programs Officer of Jesuit Refugee Service (JRS) Colombia, talks about the work of JRS in Colombia and their challenging context.

1-2 PM (ET) Tuesday, November 17, 2020

Webinar via Zoom (registration required)

Click here to learn more and register

Webinar: Resisting a democracy recession

FR. XAVIER JEYARAJ, SJ talks about the alarming transformation of democracy in the world with the election of authoritarian regimes into office.

2-3 PM (ET) Tuesday, November 24, 2020

Webinar via Zoom (registration required)

Click here to learn more and register

“Pope Francis reveals top 10 secrets to happiness”

National Catholic Reporter, Jul. 29, 2014

Click Here

Southdown Community Wellness Services

Interactive psychoeducation webinars: grief, stress management, loneliness, anxiety & spiritual

Fourth World Day of Poor Prayer Service

November 15, 2020

Find attached From UISG/USG

(Remo Casilli/Reuters)

“Angels Unawares” St. Peter’s Square